Blackmoor

Finally the last stop on this delve into the dark world of Necromancy, is a place of great evil. For this last reagent we must wander into the low levels of the dungeon Deceit. It is here then we meet the Legendary Liche
Lords. Liche Lords
are beings who's souls
have been completely
devoured by oblivion.
The wield
unimaginable magical
powers and can fell entire Legions with their might. It is from these that we must obtain the reagent known as Blackmoor. While it is not clear how the Liche Lords obtain
this reagent
themselves, what is known is that it contains some elements of the reagent known as Black Rock, An extremely dangerous
and rare reagent
which is said to be the vital ingredient in the spell Armageddon.
The reagent Blackmoor was originally used in pagan rituals and can be used for spells of power such as Quake, Open Ground , Golem
, Withstand Death,

Grant Peace, Meteor Swarm and Devastation. Black carries no known alchemistic uses and can most accurately be replaced by the reagent Mandrake
Root.

And so I leave
you....it is my hope that this information be of use to you in your quest for the powers of the Necromancer. May Oblivion grant you the strength. With knowledge comes power. Walk in Darkness...
